

Cornucopia: Draw a CONCLUSION about what the incentive is for American farmers and businesses to keep the price of corn low? _____

What is the CONNECTION between feeding cows corn and outbreaks of E. coli? _____

Irony... The narrator says that the processing plants have grown bigger and bigger with more technology, yet the E. coli outbreaks have increased in number. How is this an example of IRONY? _____

Washington, DC ... In the film, we meet Barbara and her mother, who tell us the story of Kevin. During this segment, the film shows home videos with soft music playing and a soft black frame around the video. What is the EFFECT on the audience of these elements? _____

The Dollar Menu ... What is the CONFLICT that the family in the film faces? (They have two paths to choose from.) _____

What is IRONIC about the price of food at a restaurant versus fresh food at the grocery store? _____

The narrator gives his opinion on why American food is skewed toward the bad calories. SUMMARIZE his explanation for why American companies would want consumers buying food made from subsidized ingredients. _____

Unintended Consequences...

What is the EFFECT on the audience of flashing one E. coli outbreak after another on the screen? _____

The film interviews Eric Schlosser, a well known author of the book, Fast Food Nation. What is the EFFECT of featuring such an individual and having "him" discuss E. coli outbreaks and the FDA? _____

What is the film's CLAIM for this section. _____

FOOD INC.

Figurative language: What is the EFFECT of using these phrases? Calling a pound of beef a "petri dish of salmonella" _____

"Its' remarkable how toothless our regulatory are when you look closely at them." _____

Write a capital "S" beside the section that is the MOST "SUBJECTIVE" in its treatment of the Author/Detective: Writes/helps find answers. Name: _____ Speaker/Detective: Reads material to group. Helps find answers. Name: _____

Artist/Presenter/Detective: Adds visual appeal to the project. Presents findings to the class. Helps find answers. Name: _____